In the past month, we have reached out to 1700 families during this time of lockdown in India. We have been able to provide them with food rations, daily essentials and masks which are basic needs that daily wages, migrants and those from low income groups struggle to get. Our hope is to reach out to many more who are in need of immediate aid.

As we started our relief work, our staff across India worked tirelessly to identify groups, plan and execute relief support in collaboration with Government bodies and NGOs. Here are some experiences of those staff and volunteers who we would like to call ‘the pandemic heroes of our organisation’!

Covid-19 has caused major disruptions all over India and the situation in Halleguddahalli (HGH) has taken a turn for the worse at this time. The ongoing pandemic has already affected many aspects of daily life in the community including several daily wagers who have no income to support their families. While many parts of the HGH community have been sealed due to the growing number of cases, this situation has threatened numerous lives, especially that of the elderly women and widows who depend on making their ends meet by working in events, by tying flowers or by working in the nearby Agarbathi (Incense sticks) factories.

The facilities that we are able to reach out to feed the desperate and where we are very very sorry, are good, but I need that part of the infrastructure and make aware of my community members.

Our progressive leader of the Charitable Hospital, I take extremely well. Government work that time which is the holy work, don't ask for time. Even if we are speaking, even though there is no government, we have tried to do something here and there. The doctors and other groups do something to make the best even if they do something to know poverty even if we are not a doctor. I am not a doctor, I have not asked for the doctor. They have tried to do something for us. And we are depending on the government to do something for us.

We can't help to understand that even and do something for us. God has given us the responsibility. God has given us the power. When the entire world is shut down.

Sendil, our Community Organiser identified the desperate needs of these women. He started connecting with like-minded institutions for support and also connected with the locals who shared her concerns in their locality. A non-profit provided us with 25 bags of dry ration. This was distributed by the 25 elderly women and widows. They were very grateful for this timely help.

We are so proud of staff like Sendil who go an extra mile in building the lives of those in our communities at this time of crisis.

If you would like to help us in reaching out to more families in need, give today.
