When Nouziya was young, her future looked very promising as she was studying fashion designing; but all of that took a back seat when she got married. Nouziya struggled to raise her 2 children with no financial help from her alcoholic husband.

As time went on, Nouziya's situation only deteriorated and she had no choice but to make the difficult decision of separating from her husband. Her father encouraged her to start working to take care of herself and her family. Nouziya was great at assembling clocks and selling them which helped her earn a little money. Life became better for Nouziya when she joined our vocational tailoring course in Hallegudadahalli, Bangalore. She was in wonder at every new thing that she was able to learn and was ecstatic when she was appreciated by the tutors for her efforts. This encouraged her. Nouziya now stitches different kurthas (tops) for her daughter and is able to use her skills for generating income.

Unlike many other families, Nouziya's father and her family are behind her in every step of the way as she takes efforts to stand on her own feet.

Earlier this month, when we celebrated Teacher's Day, we asked the tutors at Oasis India about their experiences because teachers learn from children as much as children learn from them! Read these interesting answers.
"Teaching children has helped me to learn to lead by example."

"These kids are always proactive, positive and full of energy! Their desire to learn motivates me to learn more and teach more."

"Working with children from the red-light area has helped me change my attitude towards life. I try to put myself in their shoes and I often cannot comprehend the pain and trauma some of them have gone through. So I make myself available to them when I deal with them. I try to just pause my work for a while and listen because listening makes them feel at ease and valued. Their testimonies and lives have helped me to see the joy in the struggles."

"When I look at these children, I strongly believe that we should be eradicating ignorance and impart the right knowledge to these young minds."

At Oasis India, we focus on not just developing skills but also in providing counselling. and life skills that help women from our communities leave better than they came in. Radha's life was an emotional rollercoaster. Here's how we were able to help her.
